Sessional / Overload Appointments – WINTER 2027

Department of Kinesiology

The Department of Kinesiology intends to offer the following course, in person, during the Winter 2027 semester, which might not be staffed by full-time faculty members as part of their normal teaching load. In accordance with section 54-07 of the 2021-2025 Collective Agreement, the department invites applications from suitably qualified individuals who are interested in teaching the following course.

KINE 2620-01 Human Factors and Performance Monday/Wednesday 4:00 p.m. – 5:20 p.m. In Person	This course provides a foundational experience regarding the effects of human factors on performance in work and non-work environments. Human performance will be explored as a function of a variety of factors which may include: how we process, store, and attend to information; the design of products, spaces and processes; how we communicate information and interface with displays and controls; environmental factors such as lighting, sound, and temperature; and how our work and daily lives are scheduled.

For additional information, contact the Department of Kinesiology at 519-253-3000 x2430.

The application deadline is Friday, November 20, 2026 at 12:00 p.m.

If you are interested in applying for any of the above positions, please submit a CV and provide a cover letter to Dr. Dave Andrews, Acting Head, Department of Kinesiology, University of Windsor, at shorne@uwindsor.ca.

Special Qualifications: Applicants will be assessed based on their teaching competence (demonstrated and potential) and academic credentials. A minimum of a Master's degree in an area relevant to the course(s) applied for is normally required.
